AEA's Knowledge Leader in Cogeneration wins prestigious European Award

AEA Knowledge Leader Mahmoud Abu-ebid has recently been given a prestigious award in recognition of his outstanding work in the field of co-generation.

At the Cogen Europe* Annual Conference, the world's largest Combined Heat and Power (CHP) event, Mahmoud was presented with a 'Special Recognition' Award.

Over the last 7 years Mahmoud has represented the UK throughout the CHP Directive negotiations at the EU Council's committees, helped the EU Commission develop guidelines for its implementation, and has developed the UK's CHPQA programme which is highly regarded throughout Europe.

Robert Bell, Operations Director, AEA said:

"I am delighted for Mahmoud and the entire CHP team at AEA. This Award is clear recognition of the consistent, world-leading advice that Mahmoud has delivered to the heart of co-generation policy making and its practical development over many years."
